

working within

investing in the success of Black social enterprise leaders

Working Within provides personal partnership and deep business acumen to Black social enterprise leaders looking to scale their impact and create sustainability in their operations.

We increase the sustainability of Black leaders' emerging enterprises through funding access, capacity-building, amplification, and increased social capital. The Working Within Amplifying Black Social Enterprises Program serves Black visionaries in their mission-based pursuits.

We started as a podcast, but we kept receiving requests to speak, and then we kept receiving requests to advise. We love what we do, thank you for checking us out!

we partner with disruptive, mission-based Black leaders that dedicate themselves to Black causes

Amplifying Black Social Enterprises

This program is highly tailored to our clients, focusing on three central phases: Investigate - Strategize - Implement to address our clients' highest priorities.

We increase the sustainability of Black social enterprises through partnering with management teams, creating and driving strategic shifts, building organizational effectiveness and capacity, and reinforcing the social capital of our clients.

our highlight reel

We access a diverse set of skills through our staff, representing expertise in: strategy development, operations, development, marketing and communications, coalition building, and market/policy research

Most notably, we are leading the strategic planning and operations for the launch of the Economic Development Association for Black Communities in Denver, the first organization of its kind.
